'PRIVATE PARKING' PROTEST

Anger at plans to allow county council staff exclusive use of riverside car park

FURIOUS residents have blasted plans to introduce parking restrictions at a free riverside car park popular with anglers and walkers.

The land, sandwiched between Burnt Mill Lock and Harlow Town Station, is currently used by anglers, boaters, birdwatchers, joggers, cyclists and walkers as a base to explore the picturesque Maymeads Marsh Nature Reserve.

But Harlow Council has posted public notices stating that work will start on March 10 to transform the area off Burnt Mill Lane into a permit-only overflow car park for the exclusive use of Essex County Council employees working in Station Approach.

Although the restrictions will not apply outside of work hours, regular users of the car park have criticised the council for failing to consult on the proposals, pointing out the county council already has scores of private parking spaces outside its Goodman House offices.

Diane Brown, of Burnt Mill Lane, told the Star: "No notice has been put up advising of a public meeting to discuss these plans. If this had happened residents wouldn't have stood for it."

"When the previous tenants occupied the building the county council now uses as offices they managed with the existing car park. There is absolutely no reason why the county council cannot do the same."

"Surely the people living here or visiting the area have more right to park on this piece of

Killer apologises to family of the man he stabbed

A MAN who carried out a revenge killing has been jailed for life after being convicted of murder.

Father-of-four Simon Payne (40), of Spencers Croft, Harlow, was told he will have to serve a minimum of 23 years behind bars before he is even considered for parole.

Payne stabbed Tony Farley (36) to death at a flat in Pennymead Tower on June 5 last year.

As he was led from the dock at Chelmsford Crown Court flanked by two guards, he turned to Mr Farley's family in court and said: "I would just like to take this opportunity to apologise to Tony's family."

But Judge Christopher Ball responded:

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"It's a little late for that."

Payne was acquitted of the attempted murder of Mr Farley's friend, Clive Edwards, but given a concurrent four-year prison sentence after being found guilty of an alternative charge of causing grievous bodily harm with intent.

The court heard that Payne had argued with the two men earlier in the day and had returned to the flat where they had spent the evening armed with two knives.

When Mr Farley opened the door, Payne stabbed him before knifing Mr Edwards, who had been drinking with Mr Farley all evening, three times in the chest.

Payne – who had previous convictions for assault, affray, making threats to kill, assaults on police and who was banned from drinking in licensed premises for 12 months in December 2009 – admitted he had drunk six pints of lager at the Heart & Club pub in Maddox Road on the night of the attack.

Despite admitting he would "lose control" of himself after drinking heavily, he claimed he had been acting in self-defence when he stabbed his two victims.

He told the jury he had returned to the flat to pick up his phone and tobacco tin and had taken the knives with him in case he needed to defend himself.

He said Mr Farley was holding a knife when he opened the door and had hit him before Mr Edwards swung a speaker stand at his head, a claim Mr Edwards denied when giving evidence.

But sentencing Payne at the end of the seven-day trial on Thursday, Judge Christopher Ball told the defendant: "You knew, and the public and courts knew, that when you have too much to drink you are capable of extreme unpleasantness."

"You got yourself into an altercation and you got it into your head that you would not take the insults or unpleasantness which may have been directed at you and you would do something about it."

"You armed yourself with two knives and went back to that flat intent on revenge and you did exactly that. You exacted that revenge."

Speaking after the trial, Mr Farley's sister Jean said: "Justice appears to have been done but there's nothing which can bring Tony back. Even if he had got 80 years it wouldn't have been enough."

In her impact statement which was read to the court, she said: "Tony is not now, or ever has been, a statistic. He was my younger brother who had much life in front of him to enjoy and fulfil."

"The whole family are devastated. Our lives will never be the same again. The pain we feel will not go away in six months or six years; we will bear it for the rest of our lives."

Two couples celebrating diamond anniversaries

Little understanding goes a long way

UNDERSTANDING and selflessness have been the key ingredients to a long and happy marriage for a Harlow couple who are celebrating their diamond anniversary today (Thursday).

George (81) and Erna (82) Little, of Staple Tye, tied the knot in February 1951 after meeting in Austria during the war when George was part of the army of occupation.

Austrian-born Erna explained: "My friend was engaged to another English soldier who was friends with George and there was a dance on at the barracks."

"She told me that George didn't have a partner and asked me to accompany him. It wasn't love at first sight but we did like each other a lot."

"He proposed nine weeks later just before he was demobbed and I said yes."

Several months after George left Vienna, Erna joined him in England and the couple were married in Wanstead. They went on to have five children and have lived in Harlow for more than 40 years.

"I think the basis of a good marriage is not being selfish and always thinking of the other person," said George, who was a painter and decorator by trade. "If there is a problem, you have to get through it together."

The couple will be celebrating at the weekend with a surprise treat organised by their daughter Sally. "We've been told to dress up nicely so hopefully it's something good," said George.

Argue? It never gets you anywhere!

EVEN after 60 years of marriage, childhood sweethearts Audrey and Ken Fish never complain about each other.

The Sawbridgeworth couple, who are celebrating their diamond anniversary today (Thursday), say they have never argued as "it never solves anything."

"We may sometimes have a difference of opinion but we always just sit down and work it out together," said Audrey (80). "We have never had an argument. I just think it's a waste of time and doesn't get you anywhere."

The couple first met at primary school. They started courting in their teens but did not get engaged until 1948 when Ken had returned from National Service in Wales.

The couple married locally in 1951 and went on to have two daughters – Sheila and Jean. They now have four grandchildren and nine great grandchildren, all of whom will be attending a gathering at their home today to celebrate the anniversary.

Ken (82) said: "We were just right from the beginning. We got on so well and really understood each other. I knew from the start that Audrey was the one for me."

Marathon man

Gary's £3k goal for MD charity

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertssexnews.co.uk

A NOVICE runner whose wife suffers from a rare form of muscular dystrophy is running the London Marathon to raise money for a charity working on finding a cure for the disease.

Gary O'Donnell (42) only started running last autumn but decided to sign up for the marathon to fund research into neuromuscular disorder Pompe which affects his wife, Nikki (36).

The father-of-one, from Church Langley, said: "I wanted to do the London Marathon to raise both money and awareness of Pompe and how it affects our family and other sufferers.

"The condition has made Nikki's core muscles extremely weak, affecting her walking and basic things like carrying items or getting up and down the stairs. She is very good with it though, and carries on as best she can."

Currently there is no known cure for Pompe and the only treatment for the disease is a lengthy enzyme replacement process administered for up to five hours every two weeks.

Gary, who is hoping to raise £3,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Campaign, is also holding a ladies' night at The Maypole pub on Friday, March 25 to help him reach his fundraising goal.

"About a dozen blokes who we know all keep themselves very fit and will be getting their shirts off for their lady audience who will then get to bid for them," said Gary.

"It is guaranteed to be a great night with a lot of laughter that will hopefully raise a lot of money."

He added: "Although it's sad that Nikki has to deal with this on a daily basis, we are quite positive about the whole thing and aren't looking for sympathy. We just want to raise awareness about how these things can happen without any warning, and raise money for a great cause."

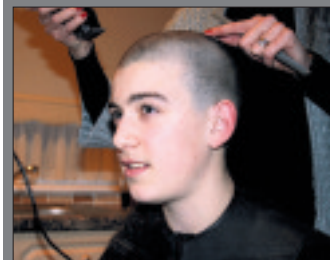

To sponsor Gary for the London Marathon, visit www.justgiving.com/GaryO.

Tickets for the ladies' night cost £6. For more details, call Gary on 07534 972191 or email ladiesnight2@hotmail.co.uk.

Head shave teenager raises £300 in show of support for cousin

A HARLOW schoolboy has raised over £300 by shaving his head to show support for his cousin who was recently diagnosed with leukaemia.

Jack Elgin (16), of Glebelands, organised the sponsored shave to raise funds for the Teenage Cancer Trust just a week after hearing about his cousin Aaron Elgin's diagnosis.

"I was really shocked when I heard about Aaron," he said. "You always watch this kind of thing on TV but it's only when it happens to you that you realise just how much it affects everything and everyone."

"We are really close and I just wanted to do something to show that he isn't going through this on his own. I love my hair and I was a bit nervous to see it all come off, but it was worth it when I realised how much money I had made and I don't think I look that bad."

Jack's father Pete said he was very proud of his son. "Jack didn't hesitate at all," he said. "As soon as he found out about Aaron he just wanted to do something to help and thought that shaving his head was the most relevant thing."

"We know Aaron will come through it all ok. He is doing great and just taking it all in his stride."

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the weekly St Clare Hospice lottery is ticket holder 396086. The winner lives in Harlow. The second prize of £100 went to ticket holder 569550, who lives in Bishop's Stortford.

Soccer kids wear odd socks to raise cash for Tia's trike

THERE was something a bit different about a Harlow football club's kit this week – the players were all wearing odd socks!

Langley Colt Stallions Under 11s Team agreed to wear mismatching footwear for their 'Wear Odd Socks for Tia Day', a special fundraising event to help buy disabled toddler Tia Hunt her new specialised tricycle, as reported in the Star last week.

Club treasurer James Bird said:

"We were overwhelmed by the support from all our boys and girls, as well as from supporters from both home and away."

"We managed to raise £370.50 and Langley Colts will be matching that. Therefore, £741.00 plus Gift Aid will be going to Tia's charity."

"Tia also made a special appearance (pictured above) which was great as the boys and girls got to meet and see who was benefiting from their fundraising efforts."

Travel students land trip to airline training centre

HIGH-flying students from Harlow College joined the jet set this week after spending the day at an airline training centre.

The group, who are studying for a BTEC National Diploma in travel and tourism, were put through their paces by Birmingham-based J.A.R.E. Airline Training Partnership when they were left to deal with a range of scenarios airline staff might encounter.

Dealing with a blaze in an aeroplane gallery, finding a baby in 90 seconds in a smoke-filled cabin and taking part in a plane evacuation using the inflatable slide were some of the more dramatic situations successfully tackled by the students.

College lecturer Kelly Edwards said: "They had a fantastic time and really enjoyed the day. They have been speaking non-stop about it!"

A spokesman from J.A.R.E commended the group on their efforts and said they were a credit to Harlow College.

Tax freeze costs 450 county jobs

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL tax bills for Harlow households will not go up by a penny this year.

Essex County Council, Essex Police and Essex Fire Authority have all followed Harlow Council in freezing their share at 2010/11 levels. It means the annual bill for an average Band D property will remain at £1,536.84.

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson hailed the decision as "great news for residents".

"During these tough financial times I am glad our residents are not being hit with any increases in their council tax," he said. "For the second year running they will not pay a penny more for Harlow Council's services."

"For a Band C property the weekly cost for Harlow Council services will remain at just £4.30. This pays for things like waste and recycling collections, street cleaning, parks and open spaces, grant aid to community organisations and a range of popular discretionary services."

Essex County Council set its precept at a budget meeting on Tuesday during which the cash-strapped authority axed 450 jobs, slashed library opening hours and cut back on recycling and school transport services in a bid to find £98m of savings.

Council leader Peter Martin said he was proud the authority had managed to freeze its share of council tax, despite having its Government grant settlement cut by £40m.

"This has been one of the toughest budgets that I can ever remember the council having to set and I'm very proud that we have managed to not increase the council tax burden for residents while also keeping the savings we have had to make to a minimum," he said.

"This is a time when there is a lot of focus on cuts, but we have been creative and resourceful in finding solutions that protect those services that make a real difference to the lives of our residents."

Harlow Council meets tonight (Thursday) to formally set the tax demands.

● Residents struggling to pay their council tax bill can check if they are entitled to benefits by logging on to www.quickcalc.co.uk/harlow or by phoning (01279) 446655 or (01279) 446633.

land than staff working in a building not even on the same street?"

Stort Valley Angling Society vice-chairman Gordon Weemes added: "Our members and many other 'pleasure anglers' use this small car park a great deal to follow our hobby, as do many other people - some able-bodied and some disabled - to follow theirs."

"Why can't the county council employees park outside The Moorhen pub in Burnt Mill Lane instead? Is it too far for them to carry their handbags and briefcases?"

"They ought to try carrying a rod holdall and pulling a fully-laden fishing trolley sometime!"

Tony Hall, chairman of Harlow Council's environment policy working group, said the extra spaces were needed to cater for county council staff yet to be transferred to the authority's new offices.

"With more than 500 Essex County Council staff relocating to Goodman House it brings working life back to that part of the town and new people to the area which is good for the local economy," he said.

"To accommodate extra cars this could mean the loss of a public car park during weekdays, but we will be providing additional on-street disabled bays on Burnt Mill Lane."

"Free parking will also continue to be available at The Moorhen."

He added: "The introduction of permits for this car park will be advertised and all comments received from residents will be presented to a future council meeting."

Residents wanting to object to the council's plans should address their comments to Joe McGill at Harlow Council Parking Services, 3rd Floor, Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow CM20 1LP or email joe.mcgil@harlow.gov.uk.

'Small state' ideology is the reason for Tory cuts

SIR, I quite like Tony Hall but he is repeating the Government's deeply dishonest mantra that the cuts are all down to its inheritance from Labour (Letters, February 17).

Its actual inheritance from the last Labour government was schools, hospitals and a public infrastructure that had been repaired beyond recognition compared to their tawdry state in 1997.

As for debt, before the banking crisis which led to the world economic downturn, Britain had the lowest debt ratio amongst the G8 countries. And if the economic crisis was all down to Labour, I can only assume Gordon Brown was Prime Minister of Ireland, France, Germany, Japan, the USA and every other country that was hit as we were. I think not.

Should we and the whole international community have done more to regulate the banks before they brought about the crash? Yes, but I'm not going to take lectures from the Tories who urged even less regulation. Remember, weeks before the crisis John Redwood produced a report for David Cameron urging the complete deregulation of mortgages.

The cuts this Government is pushing through now go way beyond what is necessary. Independent research this week showed that by 2014 Britain's public spending as a proportion of GDP will be much lower than other major European countries and even the United States, which has historically been the citadel of low public spending.

These cuts are so deep because we have a right-wing Government which ideologically believes in a small state. The price to be paid for this ideology are the public services and our community values.

Make the bankers pay

SIR, As someone sitting in the public gallery at Harlow Council's budget setting meeting, I am astonished at the inaccuracies in the letter from a man of Councillor Tony Hall's standing.

Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson did indeed make reference as to how Labour would have approached the deficit had they won last May's general election, but he said Labour would not have SIR, I am a disabled pensioner and can only walk a few yards but I try to be as independent as I can.

At the time of writing this letter I have just driven home from The Stow. I tried to collect a prescription but could find nowhere to park between the council offices and the library. All the disabled bays were full and the traffic wardens were busy taking photos of cars parked illegally in a designated 'no loading/unloading' bay and on the yellow lines around.

I guess the council will make several hundred pounds from their few minutes work this morning.

People who know The Stow will understand that there are no reasons why the 'no loading' area I refer to cannot be used for general short-term public parking.

Business at the shops is harmed by its presence so the shopkeepers don't want it. If the restrictions were removed there would be no conceivable danger or inconvenience to either pedestrians or other road users.

I have written to the chief executive of the council but he is far too important to deal with such trivia and passes responsibility down the line. It eventually ends up with a minion whose job is to enforce the very restriction I complain about.

However, I am told the documentation which led to the installation of this parking restriction is no longer available so I can't see the evidence on which the original decision was made.

I have written to my local councillors. They sympathise and exude platitudes about their inability to do anything about it. I know that they work jolly hard but if they are unable to initiate change, one does wonder why they bother.

My questions are: who in this town takes any responsibility for anything and how can we get rid of this piece of road transport foolishness which no-one wants, apart from the bean counters at the council?

In the meantime, the only advice I have been offered is that I should get someone else to collect my prescription for me. So another bit of my independence is taken away.

cut as much or as quickly and that they would have ensured decent funding to policing, education and the NHS.

He also made it clear where the blame for the current world economic crisis lies – firmly with the bankers in America, the UK, Ireland and elsewhere. The deficit was not the fault of ordinary families, yet the coalition are trying to make them pay with cuts in wages, jobs and services whilst the bankers continue to pay themselves extortionate bonuses.

Tory claims that the deficit is the fault of Gordon Brown are ludicrous as the Conservatives were in full agreement with Labour's 'light-touch' regulation of the City of London which mirrored US policy on Wall Street, ultimately leading to a feeding-frenzy of lending and property speculation.

The structural deficit has been created by millions of unemployed not spending or paying taxes. Forgotten is the number of companies destroyed in the recession that no longer pay taxes.

Also, a good number of British-based companies have disgracefully moved their headquarters abroad to avoid paying UK tax. Only this week we hear of Barclays Bank using a network of offshore subsidiaries to pay only £113m tax on profits of £4.6bn – a rate of just under three per cent.

Far from being deficit deniers, Labour has sought an approach that tries to maintain economic growth in difficult times whilst tackling the deficit. The UK's last quarter GDP contraction of 0.5 per cent shows where Britain is heading under a Tory-led coalition. Harlow Against the Cuts believes chasing tax avoidance along with new taxes on UK banks and the offshore banking industry, much of it in British controlled territories, would alleviate the need for cuts.

Given all these considerations, it is understandable that Harlow's Labour group decided, in consultation with local party members and unions, not to present an alternative budget. They, like Harlow Against the Cuts, are not prepared to make the poor pay for the bankers' greed and incompetence.

Ticking timebomb

SIR, It is no wonder Councillor Tony Hall shows such a keen interest in waste disposal in Harlow. For his letter in last week's Star shows he is an expert at recycling old rubbish.

for taking a principled stand against the unfairness of the Government's unprecedented cuts to council budgets — a whopping 25 per cent in Harlow.

The Conservatives make much of the council tax freeze but offer nothing in return but cuts and increased charges in areas that will chip away at the lives and incomes of the people of Harlow.

The Tories may have got away without the headline-making cuts to Welfare Rights and Advice of previous years but they know that from here on in it can only get harder and more painful. Why? Because the cuts to local councils go deeper and faster than almost any other Whitehall department and are frontloaded rather than spread out over four years.

The Tories whine that there is no alternative when they know full well that there is and it is in the hands of their leaders in Westminster and their tax-avoiding, bonus-paying paymasters — the banks and their friends — which got the world's economy into such a mess in the first place.

Closing the toilets in Harlow Town Park and local shopping centres is the tip of the iceberg. The ticking timebomb of further cuts and council tax increases in the years ahead will leave the people of Harlow more than a little inconvenienced.

Ian Beckett
Spencers Croft, Harlow

Back to the bad old days

SIR, So Councillor Tony Hall thinks there is no money (Letters, February 17). Well the Government seems to be awash with money when it suits them.

The Prime Minister is splashing out £200,000 for a new Jaguar XJ Sentinel to swan around in. I thought they were getting rid of the chauffeur-driven cars.

However, it does at least come with tinted windows so Cameron can hide behind them.

Then there is the £3bn to be spent on reorganising the NHS, which no-one seems to want apart from the dogmatically market-oriented health minister Andrew Lansley.

Closer to home, Councillor Hall has been involved in the unnecessary cuts to Harlow's services, yet the council is able to find £600,000 to make workers redundant.

No money indeed! We only have to look back to the 1930s and see what enormous cutbacks can do to an economy. With rising record inflation and levels of unemployment not seen since the last Conservative Government in the 1990s it is becoming quite frightening that the Tories are going back to their old ways so quickly.

Councillor Michael Danvers (Labour)
Tunneade, Harlow

Blame and shame

SIR, I attended Harlow Council's budget meeting ready to join in constructive criticism of the most savage cuts in Harlow's history.

Instead, I was sadly disappointed by the dismal performance of Labour councillors and their trades union supporters, who arrived en masse with their banners ready to demonstrate as they are entitled.

What happened? The protestors simply sat at the back and muttered with their banners silently propped, furred and useless, against the walls. Meanwhile, their councillors were busy making speeches blaming Margaret Thatcher — a prime minister elected before some of them were born. Who will they blame next? Gladstone? Oliver Cromwell? Finally their leader announced, as if it were a matter of pride, that the economic situation is so bad that they would refuse to propose a budget at all!

Liberal Democrat councillor Chris Millington told the chamber that his group had attempted to table a budget amendment to make cuts in councillors' allowances and in top executives' salaries in line with the cuts being made on the other workers and people of Harlow. But the proposal was gagged from debate by the administration and its officials. Elected councillors were not allowed to talk about it.

Two of Harlow's three parties should be ashamed of their performances and only the Liberal Democrats come out with credit. They would at least make the fat cats help dig out the rubble when the roof has fallen in; the other two parties would not.

Councillor Nick Macy (Liberal Democrat)
Cambridge Road, Harlow

Facing the challenges

SIR, For the first time in the history of Harlow Council, Labour failed to provide a budget for the town.

Not only have Labour made the council and country bankrupt, they are bankrupt of ideas. They have lost all credibility with the voters as an alternative administration. During the budget debate, Labour mocked council leader Andrew Johnson's statement that Harlow was leading Essex County Council in freezing council tax.

Over the past few years, under a Conservative administration, this council has been leading the way. We are working smarter and better. We have become more efficient than any other council. We have signed a Memorandum of Understanding with neighbouring councils about working closer together. We are pursuing a shared service with Uttlesford Council. We are recycling

A lesson in good education

SIR, I read with interest the fears on the two-tier school system and feel the 'one school type fits all' doesn't work.

For years we had grammar, technical and secondary schools and the majority of children arrived at the one best suited to them. It didn't matter where you came from, just what academic ability you had.

I was in a junior school with 40 in the class and was in the second from bottom. I took the 11-Plus because I wanted to, not because my parents insisted. I failed and went to a secondary school.

There I was in the second from bottom class but because I had good teachers who were capable of directing their lessons to our understanding I progressed through the school to arrive at the fourth year. There was a fifth form entry and approximately 30 children to a class and certainly all of those in my class were able to read.

By the fourth year some left to go to work while others, like myself, stayed on to 16. Half of us did the GCE course, the others did shorthand and typing. We all got very good jobs. I went into banking and stayed till I retired, happy as a clerk. I could never have been as clever as the grammar school children or coped with the lessons.

My daughter went to a school just before it went comprehensive and again received a good education. She trained as a teacher. My son, who like me struggled with learning, went to a school that understood the problems some people faced. He left at 16 with one CSE in music and was accepted at a horticultural college in St Albans for a year and did surprisingly well. From that small beginning he now runs his own company with employees and at 42 has just completed the first year of a part-time law degree.

So don't write off children leaving school without qualifications and don't condemn the different style schools. We had no class distinction, just academic ability.

Chris Carter
Gilders, Sawbridgeworth

SIR, Paul Topley's letter (Star, February 17) is the best recommendation for the new Passmores School to become an Academy, although I do not think he intended it!

His use of the terms "egalitarianism" and "democratically" indicates a lack of understanding of the words. Schools, even the "bog standard comprehensive", stream so they are not egalitarian and if they are controlled by the local county council, as he likes, then they are certainly not democratic. If the Academy caters for all, then there is no so-called grammar/secondary modern divide and sponsors probably know as much, if not more, about running a school than local governors or councillors. Public schools do rather well without either.

There is a world of difference between the words control and supervision. Mr Topley runs them both up the flag pole without explaining that most of our erstwhile Labour ministers sent their children to public school. He may be an enthusiast of using education as a tool of social engineering but some have had more than enough.

I am not at all impressed with county control, having taught in a school (not Essex) where pigeons flew in and out of a hole in the ceiling, defecating en route over pupils and computers alike whilst the education authority shuffled from one foot to the other wondering who was going to pay the bill. Of course, in the end, the pupils did.

The main advantage to any school is its ability to select its intake. The Academy simply takes the grammar school system and applies it to the top 90 per cent of pupils, not the top 10 per cent. The real problem which will face us in Harlow, and one which we could turn to our advantage, is what to do with the defiant, disruptive, disorganised and disinhibited 10 per cent which causes the average comprehensive to stumble.

Vocational subjects are not the answer; literacy is. However, with our hand of experts in the areas of youth offending, anti-social behaviour and pupil referral units, together with large inputs of sport training, business and perhaps the military, we might keep this self destructive few out of prison, for that is where, all too often, they end up.

What we need now from the likes of Mr Topley is drive and determination, not destruction and derision.

over half our waste and saving on rocketing tip-away fees. We are saving money and the planet by reducing our energy use by 10 per cent. We are reducing the number of empty council properties from around 250 to below 50.

Whilst Labour are losing their way, the Conservatives are providing the strong leadership to face up to the challenges of today to provide a better future for our town.

Councillor Simon Carter (Conservative)
Mark Hall Moors, Harlow

Delusions of grandeur

SIR, It is very difficult for anybody to check Harlow College principal Colin Hindmarch's claims (Star, February 17) as no full governors' minutes have been released on-line since May 2010.

A cursory glance at the governors' minutes would tell you that the big threat to the college is insolvency and the decision not to replace staff who have left.

Mr Hindmarch is correct when he talks about students coming from outside Harlow. Few students from Harlow opt to do their A-levels at a college which even Ofsted now describes as "a vocational college".

Anybody who knows anything about education will find Mr Hindmarch's statement that Harlow College is "closing in on Bishop's Stortford College" very odd and to some extent delusional.

Keith Watson
Bishops Avenue, Bishop's Stortford

Truth behind statistics

SIR, I don't know whether it was Disraeli, Mark Twain or even the Chuckle Brothers who said there are lies, damn lies and statistics, but Harlow College principal should have it tattooed somewhere on his body so he remembers not to bother trying to deceive us that he's actually done a good job there (Star, February 17). Let's have the real figures, not the twisted and skewed percentages.

How many students got 'A' grades in proper A-levels? How many students got to their first choice place at university? How many students enrol to the college each year compared to 2006? How many students are removed in the first month of study so they are not counted by the auditor? What do students really think about 'subject days' and are they still being used for A-levels? How many reports have Ofsted published in the past five years on this college? What are the state of the college finances? How much money has it spent on PR companies and lawyers? How much of management staff are being paid over £50,000 a year?

These are matters of genuine public interest so let's have the real figures please, not percentages.

Justice at last as man admits sex assaults on girls

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A MAN has been jailed for sexually abusing young girls more than 10 years ago.

Nigel Pearson (42), whose address was given as no fixed abode, committed the offences – including rape – while living at his parents' home in Harlow.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that at the time of the incidents the three victims were aged from five to 15.

Pearson, formerly of Kingsland, Harlow, pleaded guilty to five counts of indecent assault and one of rape. He was jailed for 12 years.

The court was told that the first complaint against the defendant was made in 1999 but no action was taken at the time until two further complaints were made years later.

One of the victims later suffered problems from depression. The court was told she had consulted her doctor when she realised the seriousness of what had happened.

Chris Paxton, representing Pearson, said: "He was 19-20 years of age when it started. He's a very different man now."

But passing sentence, Judge Christopher Ball told him: "This was a course of conduct now some years ago involving you taking advantage of young girls to achieve sexual gratification by abusing them."

Speaking after the case, Detective Inspector Dawn Enstone of the Child Abuse Investigation Team said: "Nigel Pearson committed serious sexual offences against three children who had a right to expect him to take care of them. He breached the trust placed in him by their parents."

"The victims in this case have shown courage in coming forward to police and I am proud that the hard work of case officer DC Kirsty Brannon has helped to bring justice for them."

"Those that offend against children should note that it is never too late for victims to seek the justice they deserve."

Hospice 'adopts' palliative care team to work in the community

A TEAM of specialist palliative care nurses providing advice and support to patients, carers and health professionals is now based at St Clare Hospice.

The Macmillan nurses will provide the much-needed community element to St Clare's already highly regarded care at home service.

Director of patient care Tanya Curry said: "We are delighted to have adopted the community palliative care team, including their administrative support. We know that having them as part of the St Clare team will mean local people receive co-ordinated and outstanding care at a difficult time in their lives.

"The move is the first part of our vision to provide high quality hospice care in patients' own homes. Now, after more than two decades of providing hospice services in West Essex and the East Herts border, we have developed a full multi-professional team across care settings in-patient, day therapy and community.

"We hope this will not only provide patients with complete care but also reach more people who could benefit from our support and reduce unnecessary admissions to hospital."

Michael Chapman, chairman of the hospice trustees, added: "It has always been a core part of our mission to provide a community element to our service, which is wanted and needed by those we care for."

The great fire of Mark Hall

John Brett, from Parsonage Leys, who found this picture in Roemary Wellings' book Harlow: In Old Picture Postcards, described the night in 1947 when he saw the flames tear through the 11th century building.

"I was about 13 or 14 at the time," he said. "It must have been early evening and we just heard that Mark Hall was on fire, so me and all the other boys went straight down on our bikes to see. We got as close as we could and watched as the firemen put it out."

The manor of Mark Hall, or Latton Merk as it was otherwise known, was home to generations of aristocratic families and even once hosted a visit from the future Queen of England, Elizabeth II.

It was said that the house was connected by a tunnel system to both the St. Mary-at-Latton Church close by to the south-west, and to Harlowbury Chapel some two miles to the east. However, this story was found to be false after the manor burnt down.

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

At the time of the fire the house was being used as a hostel for Land Army girls but it seems that it wasn't all work for the girls at the stately home, as John explained.

"I don't know if it's true but we heard at the time that it was an American soldier's fault. Apparently, he had been courting one of the land girls and snuck back with her that evening. He then proceeded to have a cigarette in bed and ended up setting fire to the whole place!"

All of the house except the servants' east wing was burnt down. What remained was used as a temporary school for the New Town children until a second fire in 1958 left little more than rubble.

However, the 19th century stable block adjacent to the house survived and was restored and converted by Harlow Council in the 1970s to what is now Harlow Museum.

Do you remember the time Mark Hall burnt down? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Su stars at store

Bubbly actress and singer Su Pollard drew in the crowds when she attended a two-hour record signing in the Harlow town centre branch of Littlewoods on Tuesday. Su, who is currently riding high in the singles chart with Starting Together - the theme from documentary television series The Marriage - signed more than 150 records for her adoring fans.

Trophy cupnapped

Old Harlow's Great Pancake Race trophy has been cupnapped! Shortly after the crime was discovered by the victorious Marquis of Granby team however, a mystery caller rang to demand a ransom of £25 to be given to charity for the return of the cup. A time and place for the handover has been fixed.

Rents to rise 80p

The average council house rent increase of 80p per week was slammed as "too low" by a Liberal councillor this week. Speaking at Tuesday's Harlow Council meeting, Jack Hewitt said Treasury advice for an increase of £1.50 a week should be followed but he failed to find a second. Harlow currently has the lowest rents in Essex.

Wildlife survey

Volunteers are needed to help with Great Parndon Nature Reserve's new Pond '86 campaign. Launched by the wood's warden Vyvyan Veal following the success of a survey about Harlow's frog population last year, wildlife enthusiasts are required to help track down and record details about creatures living in Harlow's many ponds and ditches.

Film captures the early days

AFASCINATING film about the early days of Harlow New Town is now showing on a loop in The Playhouse foyer.

The 40-minute film - Harlow: Town of the Future 1947-1981 - chronicles the building of the town and follows some of the first residents as they went about forming a new community.

Playhouse general manager Scott Ramsay said: "The footage gives a good sense of the optimism and pioneering spirit of Harlow's early days.

"Anyone who lives in or has an interest in Harlow should find it interesting. It's been a pleasure to see such a wide age range stop and watch the film; everyone has something to say about it."

DO YOU REMEMBER? Harlow Twins Group

ACOUPLE of weeks ago we reported on the start of a new group for parents of twins and triplets at the Latton Bush Centre.

The report brought back memories for Sawbridgeworth resident Shane Wood, who remembered being a member of a similar twins club at the centre in 1992.

He dug out this cutting from the Star and sent it in.

"I hope this will prove to be of interest to other readers of the Star in the same way as it did to me," he writes.

Shane is pictured with his mother and twin brother Daniel in the centre back row.

If you know anyone in the picture or perhaps recognise yourself, send your memories to Nostalgia, Harlow Star,

Competition to turn a business idea into reality

BUDDING entrepreneurs in and around the Harlow area are being given the chance to enlist the help of top industry professionals in a new business competition.

The Initiative Award, which was launched this week, is aimed at people with innovative ideas who want the chance to win a six-month business support package which will include business accommodation, mentoring and support.

The competition is the idea of local businessman Robert McGowan, a director of Harlow Business Centre owners REM Properties Ltd, who said: "Getting a job in today's market can be really difficult and I know how challenging it is to start up a new business."

"We thought that if we could help someone to set up a business which in turn would employ more people, then we could really create something good in the area."

The deadline for entries is April 11, after which a shortlist of finalists will be announced and they will be invited to present their business plans to a judging panel who will select the overall winner.

The winner will receive the specialised services, support and mentoring of local industry experts from a range of areas including legal advice, accountancy, business accommodation, IT, banking and marketing.

All applicants must be 16 years or over, live in the Harlow or Bishop's Stortford areas and be a first-time company owner or director. The company must be a new or home business, had no previous name and offer an innovative service or product to the market place.

For more details, contact Gaynor Perkins on (01279) 429644 or email initiativeaward@harlowbusinesscentre.co.uk. Application forms can be downloaded from www.harlowbusinesscentre.co.uk/initiativeaward.

Injuries I suffered are not a joke

CANDICE WHYBROW:

"Not once has he come up to me and apologised, which upset me more than anything. If I did that to someone, even if it was an accident, the least you can do is go up to them and see how they are."

By MARTIN FORD
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE young woman who suffered permanent damage to her eye after being struck by a sausage thrown during a food fight has spoken out after her case was pilloried by a judge.

Prosecutors offered no evidence in the assault case against Ashly Brearey (22), of Titthelands, Harlow, after Judge Anthony Goldstaub said he was concerned the dignity of the court might be called into question.

Judge Goldstaub told the court: "The case is stale, if not the sausage" and questioned whether there was a realistic prospect of a conviction. He then added: "There is the prospect of a lot of laughter."

However, his comments shocked 24-year-old Candice Whybrow, who suffered damage to the optic nerve at the back of her left eye when she was hit by the sausage during the dinner party at Mr Brearey's home in September 2009.

Although she was not present for the hearing at Chelmsford Crown Court, she read the judge's comments in newspapers after the story was picked up by publications across the country.

"I was a bit taken aback by the story," she said this week. "I didn't find the judge's comments very amusing. I've lost 50 per cent vision in my left eye."

"You can't take it to heart but I don't like some of the comments he has made."

FLASHBACK: Last week's Star report

Miss Whybrow, a single mum who has a six-year-old son and lives in Waltham Abbey, said she was disappointed she didn't have her say in the case but accepts the incident was not malicious and said she did not want to see Mr Brearey – a friend of a friend – receive a custodial sentence.

"The point I wanted to get across is that I wasn't involved in the food fight. I agreed with the judge when he said he [Mr Brearey] could have been sent to prison – it was an accident and I think it would have been way too harsh for him to be sent down for it – but not with the case closing down."

"I didn't get my say in court. It won't bring my eyesight back but it would make me feel better."

She added: "Not once has he come up to me and apologised, which upset me more than anything. If I did that to someone, even if it was an accident, the least you can do is go up to them and see how they are."

Meanwhile, Miss Whybrow has been left suffering frequent headaches and impaired sight in one of her eyes. "I have to have a check up every six months to check the pressure on my eye and there are certain jobs I can never do," she said.

"It will never get better. What has been done has been done."

WIN A pair of tickets to new comedy musical

IT'S 1947 in austerity Britain – belts are being tightened, fair shares for all, the coldest winter in decades and a royal wedding. Sound familiar?

Betty Blue Eyes, based on Alan Bennett and Malcolm Mowbray's hilarious comedy film A Private Function, is a tale that centres around Betty, an adorable pig who is being illegally reared to ensure that the local dignitaries can celebrate the forthcoming Royal Wedding with a lavish banquet while everyone else makes do with Spam.

This week we are giving you the chance to win five pairs of tickets to the 7.30pm performance of this utterly British musical at the Novello Theatre in London's West End on Tuesday, March 29.

Betty Blue Eyes has a deliciously witty score by Stiles and Drewe and a marvellous cast of great British actors headed by Sarah Lancashire as Joyce, Reece Shearsmith as Gilbert and, of course, Betty as herself.

MP full of praise after tour of new school site

THE new Passmores School will be "one of the most incredible in the country" according to Harlow MP Rob Halfon, who was taken on a tour of the site this week.

Mr Halfon was invited by headteacher Vic Goddard and the school's governors to view the multi-million pound development. He said afterwards it was "10 times better" than he expected. "It was absolutely fantastic," he told the Star. "In terms of the building and what it will be able to offer students, it will be one of the most incredible schools in the country and I'd expect parents from all over will be wanting to send their children there."

Facilities will include outdoor playing pitches, an all-weather playing surface and a four-court multi-use games area.

Mr Halfon also praised the school for organising on-site work placements for pupils interested in the building industry.

Work should be completed this summer with the school hoping to welcome its first intake of students in September.

Mr Halfon added: "After seeing the new site today I would say to parents whose children will benefit from the facilities that they are probably the luckiest parents in England."

Hospital joins new rota for out-of-hours vascular ops

PATIENTS requiring 'out-of-hours' arterial surgery will receive treatment faster following the launch of a new specialist clinical network in Essex.

Under the new on-call rota agreed by Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow and hospitals at Basildon, Chelmsford and Southend, people who fall ill in the evenings or at weekends will no longer have to wait for a suitable surgeon to be contacted and called in.

Instead, patients will be identified, stabilised and taken to the on-call hospital where a specialist vascular surgeon will be ready onsite.

Jonathan Refson, consultant for general and vascular surgery and lead for the project at PAH, said it would provide a much more effective service. "Rather than every vascular consultant across the four hospitals always having to be available, it means that the on-call service is predictably rotated and we can provide an instant response," he said.

"This approach means that the patient receives the right care delivered by the right surgical team in the right place at the right time."

Council to get housing cash

HARLOW Council is to receive a £6m Government windfall to help bring its ageing council housing stock up to decent homes standard.

The £6,391,660 of funding, which was announced by Housing Minister Grant Shapps on Thursday, is part of a £41m investment package for housing authorities in Essex and Hertfordshire.

The money will be split into two payments, with £2,246,500 allocated for the 2013/14 financial year and a further £4,145,160 in 2014/15.

It will be used to make much-needed improvements and repairs to council-owned properties in the town.

Harlow is one of 50 local authorities nationwide to benefit from extra investment after applying for funding in December last year.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The bid had to go through a rigorous assessment process undertaken by the Homes and Communities Agency before being approved last week.

Clive Souter, chairman of Harlow Council's housing policy working group, said it was too early to comment on the number of homes likely to be in line for improvements.

"The council obviously welcomes any additional funding to help bring council houses up to the decent homes standard," he added.

But David Forman, secretary of the pressure group Harlow Against The Cuts, said the extra the funding would not be enough to make the improvements that are required.

"Obviously any new investment is welcome but I don't think we should have had to get the begging bowl out in the first place," he said.

"Most of these homes were built using non-traditional building methods and the problems that will be encountered in making structural improvements will inevitably see the cost of works soar."

Mick Patrick, chairman of Harlow Defend Council Housing, agreed, adding that Harlow should be treated as a special case because of the large number of council homes in the town.

"This money is nowhere near enough to cover the costs of the work needed, it will only scratch the surface," he said.

"The goalposts are continually being moved with the Decent Homes Standard. The deadline was originally 2010 before it was changed to 2015, and I'm sure it will have to be pushed back another five years."

"The fact is that Harlow Council will not receive the bulk of this money until 2014/15. By then it will be too little, too late."

Crackdown on tax credit fraud

A CRACKDOWN on self-employed workers making fraudulent tax credit claims has been launched by HM Revenue & Customs.

As part of a wider Government campaign to tackle errors and fraud in benefits and credits, HMRC teams will be examining tax credit awards made to Harlow's 800 claimants to try to identify patterns of fraud.

Anyone whose claims raise suspicions that they may not be genuine or accurate will be asked to contact the department and supply evidence to support their application.

David Gauke, Exchequer Secretary to the Treasury, said the crackdown signalled the Government's determination to take a tough approach to fraud among tax credit claimants. "These losses are unaffordable and unacceptable," he added.

Failure to tell HMRC promptly of any changes in income can result in overpayment, resulting in claimants having to pay back that money. They could also face a penalty or, in the case of deliberate fraud, prosecution and a jail sentence.

Crews called to two house fires

FIREFIGHTERS were called to deal with fires in two terraced homes in Harlow within the space of four days.

The first was in North-brooks on Friday afternoon. When crews arrived on the scene they found 10 per cent of the ground floor of the property alight.

On Monday afternoon crews from Harlow and Old Harlow were sent to deal with a fire in a terraced house in Hare Street Springs.

The fire was swiftly extinguished but the officer in charge reported that property was badly smoke-logged.

He's a real cat burglar!

BAFFLED residents living in a town in America have finally caught the culprit responsible for a three-year crime spree in their neighbourhood – a cat called Dusty!

The crafty kitty was caught on camera adding to his haul of more than 600 items taken from homes and gardens in the Californian town of San Mateo.

The residents had been left scratching their heads after their clothes, cuddly toys, towels and other small items started disappearing back in 2007.

But when a night-vision camera was set up in a bid to unmask the thief, it soon became apparent the criminal was literally a cat burglar!

Dusty was caught red-pawed going out under the cover of darkness and dragging back his loot.

Owners Jean Chu and Jim Coleman say their pet's record haul is 11 items in one night. Ms Chu told reporters he had taken towels, gloves, shoes, socks and toys.

Neighbours say he particularly favours female bathing costumes and he was even caught on camera swiping a bra!

Figures show a drop in jobless benefit claims

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE number of people claiming unemployment benefits in Harlow has fallen by more than 12 per cent over the past year, according to latest Government figures.

Numbers published by the Office for National Statistics earlier this week show 346 fewer residents were claiming Jobseekers Allowance compared to 2010, corresponding with a national reduction in the number of benefit claims.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said he believed the drop was indicative of increasing employment opportunities in the town.

"Rome wasn't built in a day but this is hopefully a sign of the beginning of the end of the worst," he said.

"The figures are a small indication that we are getting the economy back on track and work in line with what has previously been reported about increased job opportunities in the area, for example with companies like Comet expanding."

He added: "There is still work to be done to help reduce the number of people who are out of work even further."

Vance Rowe, chairman of Harlow Chamber of Commerce, said the figures were a step in the right direction.

"We at the chamber are working hard with West Essex Business Alliance and Harlow Council to secure investment in Harlow," he said. "I also understand that there are some more businesses coming into the town soon, so I would expect unemployment levels to decrease."

Council's cash boost for training and jobs scheme

AN innovative scheme helping teenagers and adults with learning disabilities to find work in Harlow has been given an £86,000 funding boost.

The Environmental Task Force already receives £220,000 annually from Harlow Council but has been awarded an additional grant after central government funding was withdrawn.

The scheme, managed by Kier Harlow and based at the firm's depot in Mead Industrial Park, provides vulnerable people with paid work in roles ranging from litter picking and clearing up after flytippers to industrial estate clearance and the maintenance of dog bins.

Supervisor Brian Jones said: "The team are an important asset to our company and the community as they do a fantastic job at keeping the town clean.

"We are also able to provide literacy training for those who request it and work experience with the gardening department at Kier Harlow."

Simon Carter, chairman of Harlow Council's resources policy working group, said: "The task force offers proper training and employment to a group of people who otherwise might struggle in the jobs market."

"Giving everyone the opportunity to learn skills and hopefully earn a living on the back of it is something the council is committed to. Despite the tough financial climate we felt it absolutely right to support this scheme."

ment levels to decrease."

Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson said he welcomed any sign that the recession was coming to an end.

He added: "Our priority has got to be on continuing to develop plans to boost business investment in Harlow and to encourage companies to set up here. Hand in hand with that goes our continuing plan to renew Harlow town centre north and bring in new retailers."

"The council can't create jobs on its own but it can create the right environment to attract business, and in Harlow we're working very hard to foster that climate."

But one Harlow resident who claims to have applied for thousands of jobs without success said the figures were not proof of falling unemployment in the town.

Kevin Forbes said: "In my opinion unemployment is still rising. It's more that benefit claims are more restrictive. Although the over 50s are falling out of work, there are fewer signing on because of the means testing of both partners which usually results in them not getting any benefits at all."

"These statistics are just easy number crunching for the Jobcentres and Government."

Former magistrate dies

A FORMER Harlow magistrate has died at the age of 95.

Mary Hambro, of Hill House, Mulberry Green, served for many years as a JP on the Harlow bench and also worked tirelessly as a co-ordinator for the Royal British Legion's Poppy Day Appeal.

Mrs Hambro, whose father was a popular industrialist and Master of the Badsworth Hounds, grew up in the West Riding of Yorkshire.

Following the outbreak of the Second World War she joined the Women's Voluntary Service and, with her mother, looked after the numerous air crew serving at the fighter and bomber stations surrounding her home.

She moved to the Harlow area in 1946 with her husband, the late Colonel Emy Hambro. They lived at Hobbs Cross and Sheering before Mrs Hambro moved to Old Harlow following Colonel Hambro's death.

MARY HAMBRO

Mrs Hambro is survived by two sons - Peter and Tony - five grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

HOLY CROSS PRE-SCHOOL: Children helped to raise more than £690 by dressing-up in their most glittery outfits for a special charity day.

The youngsters at the Traces Road pre-school were encouraged to wear as much sparkle as possible to support Starlight, a charity that helps make the dreams of seriously and terminally ill children come true.

They also baked cakes and biscuits and made magic wands and crowns to go with their outfits, while parents were invited to take part in a raffle and a mystery square board game.

Deputy nursery assistant Natalie Lynch said: "All the children had a great time and went home really excited."

"The whole day was really good fun and helped to make them more aware about charities whilst raising a lot of money for children in hospitals."

FAWBERT & BARNARD'S PRIMARY: Steven Spielberg may have some competition after talented pupils put on a spectacular film show as part of a special movie week.

Each class at the London Road school wrote, directed, filmed, acted and edited their own film in the hope of winning a prize at their own Oscars ceremony.

Children and staff then donned their most glamorous attire, walked the red carpet, and posed for photographs as part of the awards ceremony. School spokesperson Christine Baxter said: "It was fantastic. The children had so much fun and learned all about team work, how to develop their own skills and ideas and got to understand about all the different aspects that goes into making a film."

"The finished movies were excellent and, of course, we all enjoyed dressing up for the Oscars!"

ST JAMES' PRIMARY:

A group of pupils joined forces with police to help keep Harlow's roads safe.

As part of a special road safety day, children from the Paringdon Road school helped officers and the local road safety team catch motorists breaking the speed limit in Rye Hill Road using hand-held speed cameras.

Those who were stopped for driving too fast were given the choice of paying a fine or receiving a ticking-off from the safety conscious children.

Traffic officer Duncan Stableford said: "The children realised they were having a big impact when one chap who was stopped last year at the same location came up to us and said how it had made him keep his speed down all year."

"A total of 28 drivers were stopped for excessive speed and all were educated by the children."

"There was some really positive feedback from the drivers who all said it made them think about their speed."

Murder mystery is short on suspense

REVIEW

The Hollow

Global Productions, Harlow Playhouse

SHE was the mistress of suspense, an author whose intricately-woven tales of murder and mystery sold almost as many copies as the Bible. But Agatha Christie was no great playwright.

Yes, her 80-odd detective novels made her the best-selling author of all time and, yes, it's difficult to switch on the TV without seeing David Suchet as Belgian super-sleuth Hercule Poirot. But with the notable exception of The Mousetrap, Christie's plays have fared less well over time.

Take The Hollow for example. Adapted for the stage in 1951 from the 1946 novel of the same name, Christie decided to drop Poirot from the tale - her dislike for the rotund detective is well-documented - and split the entertaining country house mystery into three lengthy acts.

But while complex characterisation and intricate back stories work well on the page, the need to cram this veritable avalanche of information into the opening hour or so of a play does not make for particularly thrilling viewing.

Although director Michael Philips wisely opted to drop the second intermission for Global's trimmed-down production, the play's claustrophobic setting and languorous pace - awkwardly at odds with its hyper-emotional characters - ultimately smothered much of the suspense.

The point where the story should have really taken off - the introduction of Inspector Colquhoun and sidekick Sergeant Penny - fell disappointingly flat, with Richard Holliss's valiant attempts to flesh out the one-dimensional detective's slight character not enough to escape the sizeable shadow of Poirot that loomed large over the whole production.

To their credit, the talented cast did their best to make up for the play's shortcomings, most notably Christine Holliss, who had the audience in stitches with a giddy portrayal of delightfully dotty, gin-soaked aristocrat Lady Lucy Angkatell, and the ever-reliable Chris Millington as her equally bonkers husband, Sir Henry.

Mark Simons and Jannifer Dorian played out the romantic sub-plot with aplomb as young lovers Edward and Midge, while Stephen Balchin and Amanda Powell also impressed as odious murder victim Dr John Cristow and his put-upon wife Gerda.

But following the breathless brilliance of Global's masterful production of fast-paced farce Noises Off at the Playhouse last year, The Hollow was always going to struggle to live up to expectations.

The group's award-winning adaptation of Harold Pinter's The Dumb Waiter at the theatre next month should see them back to their best.

Theatre switches to cinema mode for season of classic British films

FILM buffs can revisit a selection of British classics at Harlow Playhouse over the next two months as the theatre launches a new movie season.

One unforgettable British movie from each decade of Harlow's history will be screened in the Studio, starting today (Thursday) with magical 1940 family fantasy The Thief of Baghdad (U).

Next Thursday (March 3) audiences can catch the hilarious 1951 Ealing comedy The Lavender Hill Mob (U), before John, Paul, George and Ringo send themselves up in the 1964 Beatles mockumentary A Hard Day's Night (U) the following week.

The 1979 cult classic Quadrophenia (18) following the uppers and downers of a sharp-suited, angst-ridden teenage Mod hits the theatre on March 17, followed on April 7 by the lavish 1985 Merchant-Ivory adaptation of EM Forster's novel A Room With A View (PG).

Hugh Grant and Andie MacDowell then star in the hugely popular 1994 romantic comedy Four Weddings and a Funeral (15) on April 14, before an Easter holiday screening of Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban (PG).

The season comes to a close on April 28 with a screening of multi Bafta Award-winning masterpiece The King's Speech (12A) starring Colin Firth as the reluctant King George VI

ON SCREEN: Clockwise from top left, The Thief of Baghdad, The Lavender Hill Mob, A Hard Day's Night and The King's Speech

Prisoner of Azkaban which are screened at 2.30pm only.

AS I write, housing minister Grant Shapps is chairing a summit on the crisis facing first-time buyers.

Shapps has not been shy in airing his concerns about the health of the mortgage market recently and has a great deal of backing in the industry as a result.

If you're a first-time buyer with a small deposit then you could be asked to pay a steep premium on your mortgage in order to get a foothold on the property ladder. Proposals are being drafted to boost lending by UK banks and building societies, and house builders are planning on using the emergency summit to push for the return of mortgage indemnity guarantees (Migs).

First-time buyers now account for less than a quarter of all potential house purchasers in the UK, with many regions seeing proportions drop to a fifth or less, according to Rightmove.co.uk who claim that this figure is around half the level typical of a healthy housing market.

Migs were frequently used during the housing boom. They were paid for by buyers but provided protection for mortgage lenders in the event of a property being repossessed and sold for less than any outstanding loan. Now the Home Builders Federation has appealed to David Cameron to get behind its members and has asked for Government backing for the reintroduction of Migs to enable first-time buyers secure loans.

According to Rightmove, 45 per cent of first-time buyers said raising a deposit was their biggest concern of getting on to the property ladder, 10 per cent were worried about being unable to meet monthly mortgage payments and 23 per cent said that they struggled to find a property they liked. Another 10 per cent said worries about their finances, existing debts and job security prevented them from buying a home.

Surprisingly, only seven per cent were put off buying by concerns over recent house price falls, with two in five people expecting the price of property to remain broadly unchanged by the end of the year.

ASX and you will receive

Mitsubishi has tried its hand at the softer side of 4x4s but will the ASX deliver the goods? STEVE WALKER takes a look.

MITSUBISHI is known as a manufacturer of 4x4s but the kind of 4x4s it's best known for aren't really what's in vogue at the moment.

Models like the Shogun and the L200 pick-up truck are the real deal. They're tough, uncompromising and capable, but what's currently setting the automotive world alight are 4x4s of a smaller, softer bent.

The ASX is Mitsubishi's attempt at this more urbane face of 4x4 motoring, a crossover model designed around everyday on-road use.

Background

Its reputation as a proper 4x4 brand should stand Mitsubishi and the ASX in good stead with buyers in an area of the market where appearances count for a lot.

This isn't the first time that the Japanese marque has ventured away from producing hardcore 4x4 models, either. The Outlander compact 4x4 took a more road-biased approach but that car still retains a level of ability in the rough.

The ASX slots in below the Outlander and is designed expressly to perform on the Tarmac. Although four-wheel-drive models are available, many will be ordered in front-wheel-drive form to keep costs down.

Driving experience

Mitsubishi's engines haven't always been the last word in sophistication,

TEST DRIVE

Mitsubishi ASX range

£15,749- £23,299

the manufacturer often having to borrow technology in from elsewhere. The ASX could signal a change to all that with its advanced petrol and diesel units that were developed in-house.

The petrol engine option is a 1.6-litre 115bhp unit with MIVEC variable valve timing technology. It's offered exclusively with the front-wheel-drive transmission and generates 154Nm of torque at 4,000rpm.

Better still is the 1.8-litre DiD diesel which packs 148bhp and 300Nm of torque from 2,000rpm. That's a lot of grunt for a unit of this size and there's no shortage of technology behind it.

The engine is of all-aluminium construction with common-rail injection and it also uses MIVEC valve timing, the first time such technology has been employed in a diesel passenger car.

This unit is predicted to be the big seller and comes in front or four wheel-drive guise with a six-speed manual gearbox in place of the petrol's five-speed item.

Design and build

Looks are very important for crossover 4x4s like the ASX, the hint of off-road ruggedness being a big part of what separates them from more mundane superminis and family hatchbacks.

The ASX doesn't disappoint here but its key stylistic devices are borrowed not from the mighty Shogun 4x4 but from the Lancer hatchback.

The vast 'jet-fighter' grille that dominates the car's snout-like nose, bordered by its squinty headlamps, had ample aggression to grace the front of the Lancer Evolution X rally-replica so it should get the ASX noticed. Elsewhere the design is more conventional small 4x4 with the flared wheelarches, elevated ride height and roof rails.

The cabin isn't hugely adventurous in its design, with a proliferation of dark plastics lightly peppered with metallic detailing. The control layout is simple and you certainly aren't overwhelmed by too many buttons.

The rear seat backs recline to help passengers get more comfortable and there's an optional panoramic glass roof to flood the cabin with light.

Luggage space is up to 416 litres but the 60:40 split easy-fold rear seats can be dropped down to increase that total substantially. A storage tray under the boot floor can hold an extra 30 litres.

Market and model

It hasn't been easy to keep track of the small 4x4 market in recent times. At 4,295mm long and 1770mm wide, the ASX slots in at the smaller end of the compact 4x4 class and represents a realistic alternative to family hatchbacks and larger superminis in terms of its carrying capacity.

Direct rivals will include road-biased crossover 4x4s like the Nissan Qashqai, Skoda Yeti and Suzuki SX4.

It runs on fully-independent suspension with Macpherson struts at the front and a multi-link arrangement at the rear. Electric power steering with reach and angle adjustment is standard on all models.

Standard equipment on the ASX includes ASC Active Stability Control, a CD stereo with MP3 compatibility, air-conditioning and seven airbags. Mitsubishi tends to campaign strongly on the value for money angle and the ASX should be no exception.

Cost of ownership

Mitsubishi is making its ClearTec package of low CO₂ modifications standard on all versions of the ASX.

The highlight of this is the Automatic Stop & Go system which turns the engine off when you're stationary to save fuel, but there's also a diesel particulate filter on the oil-burning models, use of LED lights to save power, low rolling resistance tyres and a number of other features.

One of the major efficiency savings buyers can make themselves is by choosing a two-wheel-drive ASX. It typically emits 5g/km less than an equivalent 4x4 model.

Summary

Think of Mitsubishi and you might think of big 4x4 vehicles that can plough through the most treacherous terrain, but the ASX is a 4x4 that's designed to take things easier.

As the Japanese marque's entrant in the burgeoning crossover 4x4 market, the ASX replicates the tough looks but is a far smaller and softer proposition overall.

It looks a tempting alternative to the ordinary family hatchbacks and superminis that everyone else drives, but the way the small 4x4 market is going this kind of vehicle could become very commonplace very quickly.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer
your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our

Trio shine at English Champs

Cross country

THREE top performances came from Harlow students when they competed in the English Cross Country Championships.

The fields in each race numbered from around 350 to 400 and a place in the top 60 is considered to be of national standard.

Three Harlow runners achieved this benchmark at the event in Alton Towers, Staffordshire which was marked by freezing temperatures and muddy conditions.

In the U-13 3km boys race, Mark Hall pupil Canaan Solomon (12) had got a good start and he went on to finish an excellent 24th in 9 mins 11 secs. Meanwhile his school colleague Alicia McArdell, (13), ran superbly in the U-13 3km girls race.

She was 48th and was 4th Essex runner home in 15:24.

Jodi Ratcliff (12), also Mark Hall, was 157th in 16:35 and Stewards School pupil Rosie Poole (11) was 189th in 16:55.

In the U-15-years girls 4km race, Amelia Barrett (14), a Burnt Mill School student, did extremely well to come 55th as she was competing mostly against runners a year older.

She was also the 4th Essex finisher, completing the course in 16:35.

Isobel Moss (15), a Passmores School student, was 242nd in 19:07.

In the U-17 boys 6km race, Mark Hall student Ryan Dunne (15) ran creditably to come 115th in 27:20 and Sam Benge (17), from Harlow, came 230th in 30:27.

Tennis club joy

HARLOW Tennis Club's second team continued to push for promotion in the Essex Winter League, easily defeating Cranston Park III 4-0.

The overall games tally was 40-12.

Harlow's 1st pair of Christophe Guillard and Craig Whymark ran out 10-3 winners.

Harlow's 2nd pairing of Bob Barnett and Dave Corbyn won 1-2 down in games at the start of their match against, but rallied strongly to win the next nine games for a 10-2 win.

In the reverse pairing matches, Guillard and Whymark beat the 2nd pair 10-4 and Barnett and Corbyn won 10-3 against the 1st pair.

School doubles up for final flourish

IT was an all-Church Langley School affair in the final as 12 teams competed in the Harlow and district schools hockey tournament.

After a gripping afternoon of competition on the courts at Passmores School - home of Harlow Hockey Club - last Thursday, the Church Langley A team played the B team in an entertaining final.

With the match poised at 1-1 after the end of normal time, the two teams elected not to play

FINAL JOY: Church Langley School sent four teams to the Harlow & district hockey tournament (s) extra-time - and shared the silverware.

Earlier, Langley A had stormed through their pool stage with Henry House scoring several goals.

In their semi-final they won 5-0 against Katherines.

Henry hit a hat-trick in this match. Jake Grey and Jordan Sheridan also netted.

The Langley B team also did well in their pool stages before meeting Latton Green in the last four.

This was a tense affair and neither side seemed capable of finding a winner, which meant the match went to two periods of extra-time!

However, Jamie

Oliver popped up to net the all-important winner near the end of the second period to send his side into the final.

He scored again in the final, but Langley A equalised soon after through Jordan Sheridan to secure a share of the spoils.

All 16 players who competed in the final received a gold medal.

The competition was organised in conjunction with the National Hockey Foundation and the Harlow Schools Sport Partnership.

Langley's success followed a silver medal at the Harlow & district basketball tournament earlier this month. They lost to William Martin in the final.

Hawks end cup run on a high

Harlow Hawks 81, Bedford 52

National Founders Cup (basketball),

East Region, group stage

HARLOW Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz was thrilled after his team finished off their National Founders Cup campaign with a brilliant performance.

Around 150 people saw the Hawks comfortably beat Bedford Bulls at leisurezone on Saturday.

Niaz was pleased his side had bounced back from a disappointing league defeat the previous night.

He said: "That was a great response from the team after the way we played the previous night. It was a much needed confidence boost and every player stepped up and delivered."

"There was a great turnout and [the crowd] were always behind the team."

Dave Spashett got the Hawks on the scoreboard first with a lay-up and was the main source for Harlow's scores in the first six minutes.

At the other end, the Bulls were kept scoreless before recovering to level.

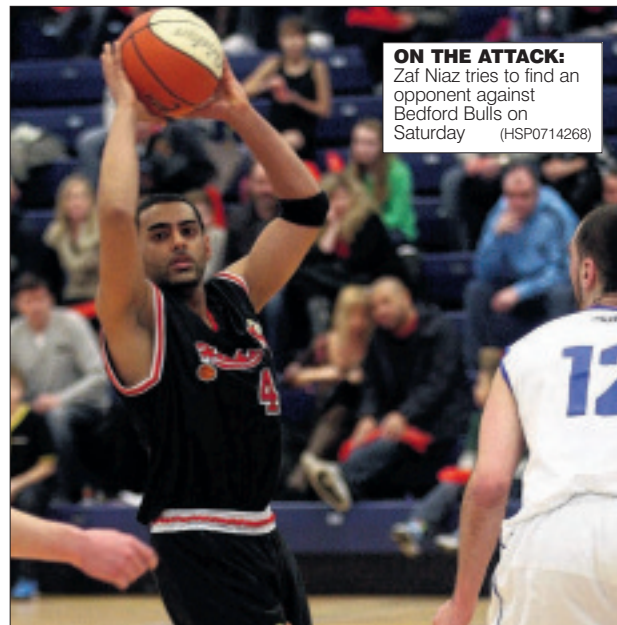

However, Hawks finished the quarter with an 8-2 run to go into the second quarter leading 19-13.

This was marked by intense defence from the hosts, who conceded just nine points.

Harlow's attacking play was marked by scoring contributions from Simon Atkinson, Zaf Niaz, Spashett and Shab Niaz.

Hawks took a 39-22 lead into half-time.

The third quarter saw Spashett and Shab Niaz provide the opening seven points before Bulls responded well.

ON THE ATTACK: Zaf Niaz tries to find an opponent against Bedford Bulls on Saturday (HSP0714268)

However, fast break points from Russ Allan and a late three pointer from Zaf Niaz helped put Hawks 59-33 ahead going into the final quarter.

The teams then traded baskets. Lee Jones and Luke Atkinson scored nine points between them late on, while the others cleaned up the rebounds or loose balls in defence as the Hawks won by 29 points.

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (22 pts), Spashett (12), L. Atkinson (11), Z. Niaz (8), Allan (8), S. Atkinson (7), Haddow (6), Jones (5), Norkellunas (2), Burgess.

● A DISASTROUS spell towards the end of the first quarter played a big part in Harlow Hawks losing 78-62 at home to Hertfordshire Warriors.

The hosts were leading in Saturday's Hertfordshire League division one contest before a 15-2 run from Warriors gave them a 19-13 lead going into the second quarter.

Fortunes then fluctuated and Hawks trailed by just six points going into the last quarter which saw the Warriors pull away.

Ali Miller (18), Nick Moss (11) and Simon Atkinson (11) were Hawks'

Clapton seal title in fine style

Upper Clapton 56, Phantoms 0

RFU Essex League, division two

UPPER Clapton RFC clinched the Essex League division two championship and promotion in style on Saturday.

The Thornwood Common team maintained their unbeaten league record as they shrugged off difficult conditions to score 10 tries against the Phantoms in front of a large crowd.

The achievement is all the more remarkable as Clapton are the youngest side in the league.

Clapton started well and scored their first try in the first five minutes through Cameron Furlong, before increasing their lead through Tim Matthews whose pace took him over for a try.

More first-half tries came from Dorling and Winkworth.

Two of the four first-half tries were converted and Clapton led 24-0 at half-time.

Clapton did not relent after the break and a fine offload from Tom Roberts set up Dorling for his second try.

Roberts and Ross Stalley both claimed braces before the final try was scored by Furlong.

Kicking conditions were difficult and just one conversion was kicked in the second half. UPPER CLAPTON (squad): Dorling, Ayres, Trevillion, Procel, Matthews, Jones, Beccera, Stokes, Ross, R. Stalley, S. Stalley, Furlong, Tindall, Winkworth, Roberts, Stavrinou, Howell, Gardiner.

Cruse in control

NINETEEN anglers attended a rearranged match at Southend Farm, Waltham Abbey.

This meeting brought the 2010 programme to a belated conclusion for Harlow's Stort Valley Angling Society.

Weighing in a total of 36lbs 2ozs, the anglers discovered an overnight frost and clear conditions which made locating fish difficult for many.

However, Danny Cruse brought his season to a successful conclusion by taking top spot with a winning weight of 9lbs 9ozs, just 9ozs ahead of Malcolm Gregg.

Third place went to Mick Westby with 6lbs exactly.

This win helped Cruse lift the prestigious Senior KO Challenge Cup as well as the Poole Cup.

Malcolm Gregg helped John Dodson lift the Pairs KO Cup with his second place.

Rebecca's 3 medals

NINE-year-old Rebecca Howlett gained three medals at the South Midlands Tae Kwon Do Championships.

The Latton Green School student entered in three events, gaining bronze in the yellow belt patterns division.

The Harlow Taekwondo member won two rounds to take silver in the yellow/green belt individual sparring and won gold in the yellow/green belt team sparring event.

Instructor Colin Mowatt said: "Winning the bronze in the patterns event was our most pleasing moment as Rebecca was competing against 20 others, including many older girls, two of which are in the British team."

"She put on an amazing performance and had to perform her pattern three times in a very close event."

Fightback for Rams

A STRONG second-half display ensured Harlow Rugby Club's U-15's came from 20-17 behind at half-time to beat Barnet 34-20 at home on Sunday.

Harlow scored three tries in a fluctuating first half through Rhys Davis (2) and Charlie Trevillion.

Chay Clark kicked two conversions.

The Rams tightened their defence conceding no more points and scored three second-half tries.

These came from Connor Hatcher-Staines, Frazer Bleach and Davis for his hat-trick.

Weald knocked out in semi-final

A PHIL Smith hat-trick helped Heath Rovers defeat North Weald 4-0 at home in the semi-final of the Premier Division Cup.

Flynn Cumming scored the other goal.

Rovers will face either Alemite Athletic or Sheering in the final.

Their last four tie was postponed because of the bad weather on Saturday.

Langley Rangers beat Lower Street 5-2 in the Division Two Cup semi-final.

Bradley Wilson (2), Martin Linsall (2) and Alex Lawrenson were on target for Langley.

In the other semi, Heath Rovers reserves lost 2-1 at Potter Street. Ben Simon and Alfie White scored for Street.

In division one, Hertfordshire Rangers drew 2-2 at home to Thorley Park.

A Paul Richardson goal could not prevent Birchanger from being thrashed 5-1 at home to Avondale Rangers.

Three other matches were lost to waterlogged pitches.

Other results: Div two - Avondale Rangers res 5, Frontiers res 0.

Div One Cup, semi-final - Frontiers 7 (Ryan Brown 2, James Weston 2, James Phillips 2, Mitchel Judge), North Weald res 3.

Gym to host English Champs

RIPPED Gym will host the British Powerlifting Organisation England Championships on Sunday March 6.

The venue, based at The Stow in Harlow, will stage competitions in powerlifting, bench press and dead lift.

The competition is also a qualifier for the British Championships.

Spectators are invited to the event which starts at 10am. Guests must pay an entry fee of £1.50 which will be donated to charity.

With 25 lifters registered to attend; 11 bench, 11 powerlifters and three dead lift competitors, organisers are anticipating big audience numbers.

Ripped Gym member Sebastian Wajcentel, who is currently the Bench Press World Powerlifting Federation Champion, will be competing.

Tye into final

TYE Green Whites fought back from 2-0 down to beat Stow Snooker Club 5-3 and reach the Harlow & District Darts League Team Knockout final.

Stow took both thirds to go into a 2-0 lead and the fours were shared 1-1 before Whites won all four pairs to triumph 5-3.

Henry Woolhead scored a 171 and there was a 103 outshot from Steve Jefferies.

League leaders Servo Link eased through to the final by beating Golden Swift 5-1.

Link won the thirds 2-0, the fours was 1-1 before Servo took first two pairs to complete the win. James Jennings (Link) hit a 180.

A BLUE Bargain is perhaps not the description of Chelsea's swoop for Fernando Torres!

However, it is our tipster's NAP for tomorrow's racing at Harlow Greyhound Stadium.

Friday (February 25) selections:
7.30pm Benro Spot; 7.45pm A Blue Bargain (NAP); 8pm Calico Hawk; 8.15pm Plutos Delight; 8.30pm Cavies Sid; 8.45pm Archies Vicky; 9pm Blackies Cooke; 9.15pm Benro Princess; 9.30pm Flamestone; 9.45pm Dainty Tiger; 10pm Dainty Valley; 10.15pm No Joke Corbet; 10.30pm Vigorous Amy (NB).

Down in top form for European Masters

STEVE Down warmed up for his appearance at the European Masters Indoor Championships in Ghent, Belgium next month with a runner-up spot in the Southern Counties Veteran Association Championships.

The Harlow Athletic Club member ran 2 minutes 6.3 seconds in the 800m at the Lee Valley Athletic Centre in North London last weekend.

This was a personal best for Down in the men's over 40 category. He was 2.4 seconds behind the winner.

However, Down was unhappy with his tactics in this race and plans to remedy this in his next race.

Down is currently ranked 4th in the UK for his age group.

He clocked 2:07.88 to convincingly win the Masters Men's 40 age group 800 metres at Lee Valley the previous week.

Down was competing in the Eastern Veterans Championships.

Down is ranked No.2 men's 40 athlete in England.

● HARLOW Running Club member Jamie Jephcott showed incredible stamina to complete the London Ultra 50K (31.1 miles) race.

This run started at Streatham Common and continued on the Capital Ring trail that circumnavigates London, using a network of footpaths, parks and canals and took competitors across muddy woodland.

Jephcott finished in 15th out of 212 runners in a fantastic 4 hrs 27 mins. This was his first ultra marathon.

Ten men dent play-off quest

Harlow Tn 1, Redbridge 1

Ryman, division one north

By DAVID RIMMER

david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

CHRISTIAN Wheeler refused to mince his words after Harlow Town could only draw at home to lowly 10-man side Redbridge.

The Hawks were 1-0 down at half-time but Redbridge could have doubled that and the hosts lacked any kind of cohesion on Tuesday.

Moves of more than three passes were rare, scuppering Harlow's attempts to build any consistent pressure.

Danny Chapman's men were also unable to exploit the extra man after Tom Stephen was sent off when he denied Steve Ferguson a goalscoring opportunity in the box on 64 minutes.

Danny Brown showed nerves to fire home this penalty and secure a point. He had already missed one spot-kick, which had been saved 10 minutes earlier was saved by Redbridge keeper Elliot Justham.

Harlow's assistant manager Wheeler told the Star: "It was a poor all-round performance by our standards of the last few weeks.

"What the players served up was not good enough. People were playing 'tippy tappy' football and not what we are working on in training."

He added: "Whether it was 10 or 11 we were playing against we would have liked to have got three points. It's a blow. We cannot keep chucking points away."

Redbridge went ahead on seven

ON THE SPOT: Danny Brown tucks home the penalty to give Hawks a draw on Tuesday (HSP0714978) minutes. Kevin McLeod's deep free-kick from the right saw an unmarked Sean Crossley exploit a statuesque Harlow defence and nod home past keeper James Hasell.

Harlow had some attacks, but did not threaten and just before the break a Redbridge move ended with Jonathan Glowacki's 18-yard shot striking the home crossbar.

On 54 minutes, Harlow were thrown a lifeline when Glowacki fouled Bertie Brayley in the box. However, Brown's diffident penalty was diverted for a corner by the diving Justham.

Brayley wasted a number of opportunities; the best came on 62 minutes when he somehow fired wide from seven yards after a Ferguson cross.

After Brown's leveller, Harlow searched for a winner but suffered a blow when substitute forward Lee Roache went off with ankle injury on 81 minutes.

Dave Cowley was creative on the left, but Harlow simply could not conjure a winner with Laurie Stewart's injury-time header striking the bar.

HARLOW TN: Hasell 5, Barnard 5, Brown 4, Gledhill 5, Stewart 3, Kilapi 3, Akers 5 (Ferguson 60 5), Lalite 3, Brayley 3, Antoine 4 (Roache 53, Peagram 81), COWLEY 6. Subs not used: Stadhart, Wheeler. Att: 125.

● GOALKEEPER Michael Dumoulin has re-joined Harlow Town, while winger Joe Stevens has quit to join Enfield Town.

Harlow's league game at Cheshunt on Saturday was postponed because of a waterlogged pitch.

Bottom side take surprise win

THE formbook was upset as Harlow Ladies lost 3-2 at basement side Thurrock.

Saturday's reverse was only the second defeat Harlow have suffered since November.

This match was a fractious encounter.

The dour weather seemed to put the officials in a similar mood as Harlow failed to get the decisions they felt their play deserved.

When Thurrock went ahead on 13 minutes from a contentious penalty

Thurrock 3, Harlow 2
Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

corner routine converted at the near post, Harlow knew they were in for a difficult day.

Four minutes later, Thurrock went 2-0 up after a right-wing move ended with a Thurrock forward pouncing to finish.

Harlow were fired up and halved the deficit on 23 minutes.

Georgina Esterhuysen and Carolyn Welsford combined in the opposition circle before the former's shot hit a Thurrock player's foot and looped into the goal.

After a half-time team-talk which focused on Harlow playing their own game, they drew level after 44 minutes.

Sonya Amos and Welsford combined from a penalty corner and the latter's shot looped up to hit the backboard.

But Thurrock netted the winner with 10 minutes left.

A home umpire awarded a penalty corner to the basement outfit.

Despite going wide, the resulting shot was judged to have hit Jo Chambers on route to goal, and a penalty stroke was dispatched by the Thurrock forward to give them victory.

Harlow are third in the table.

HARLOW: Rowley, Spencer, Figg, Chambers, Douglas, Amos, Welsford, Trimble, Esterhuysen, Stanesby, Byers, Phipps.

Other results: East Men's Hockey League, div 4SE: Wapping IV 5, Harlow 0.

Cunningham's praise as his old club hold Gunners in FA Cup

FORMER Leyton Orient defender and Hawks co-owner Tommy Cunningham was thrilled by the O's 1-1 draw against Arsenal in the fifth round of the FA Cup.

Cunningham, who played for Orient between 1981 and 1987 watched his old club with pride on the box on Sunday.

It was a great achievement as npower League one club Leyton Orient lie 53 spots below the Gunners, second in the Premiership.

Cunningham said: "It was a fantastic result. There has been a lot of hard work put into it. I am thrilled for the supporters."

"A lot of credit should go to the players, the management and the chairman Barry Hearn. He has put in a lot of hard work."

He added: "It was broke when he took it over and he has learnt a lot about football. It shows what a great competition the FA Cup is."

Cunningham is not the only former O's player at Barrows Farm. Kevin Warren and Danny Brown were apprentices at Brisbane Road together, while right-back Donny Barnard is also an ex-Orient player.

The East Londoners grabbed a draw when Jonathan Tehoue fired in an 89th-minute strike, delighting many fans and neutrals concerned at future changes the FA are planning to make to the historic competition, including doing away with replays.

Arsene Wenger's side will now be forced to play another match in an already crowded programme.

"There was always that chance [of a draw] when it was 1-0. All credit goes to the guy who scored the equaliser. He was positive," said Cunningham.

Asked as to the O's chances of winning the replay at The Emirates Stadium, Cunningham grinned: "There is always that chance."

The winners visit Manchester United in the quarter-finals.

Cunningham joked: "I would ask Barry Hearn for a complimentary ticket for that!"

stabbing run to touch down on 58 minutes.

Dobson kicked the conversion to cut the deficit to three points.

Both sides fought hard for supremacy and on 77 minutes Harlow were awarded a penalty 40m out.

The Rams decided not to go for goal and level, but went for a line-out near the corner flag in an attempt to score a matchwinning try.

The Harlow pack made one final attempt to force their way over the Ipswich line, but were held off.

Harron added: "Conditions underfoot made it difficult for a kick and we were going for the win."

"We were better in the set-pieces in the forwards and the tackling was better but there is still room for improvement."

Harlow visit Saffron Walden in a rearranged league game in two days.

GREAT DRAW: Tommy Cunningham

IMAGINE if heptathlete Jessica Ennis or triple jumper Phillips Idowu were members of Harlow Athletic Club and the impact that would have on generating new members?

That's what's happening, to a degree, at the club's all-ability section – thanks to Great Britain Paralympic hopefuls Richard Chiassaro and Anne Wafula-Strike.

The pair are proving excellent role models for the all-ability section which is thriving at the Mark Hall Sportcentre-based club.

More than 100 people now take part in the group's activities at Mark Hall, while events are also held at Stewards School in Harlow.

Formed just over two years ago, the section allows disabled people to participate in seven different sports.

Chiassaro trains regularly at Mark Hall.

He has been heavily tipped to strike gold at the 2012 Paralympics in London.

The wheelchair athlete hopes to compete in track events including the 100m, 200m and 400m, plus the 4x400m relay.

Wafula-Strike (41), meanwhile, became the first-ever Kenyan disabled woman to compete in a Paralympics.

She took part in the 400m at the 2004 Paralympic Games in Greece when she reached the final.

Both are able to use the facilities at Mark Hall for free.

Chiassaro is working hard on the excellent track at the London Road complex. His main aim this year is qualifying for Team GB at next year's Paralympics.

Wafula-Strike uses the free weights at Mark Hall to stay in shape and is training hard with the help of her coach Ken Day.

Chiassaro and Wafula-Strike are a huge inspiration to the band of disabled athletes, given the opportunity to take up sport and perhaps go on to emulate their idols by representing England or Great Britain.

The all-ability sports and leisure group was created in response to local demand from parents of children with a disability as there were very limited opportunities for them to participate in sport or leisure opportunities in Harlow.

There were even fewer opportunities for competition for people with special needs and disabilities.

All Ability Sports and Leisure has developed a reputation as the leading provider of sporting opportunities for people with disabilities and attracts people from across Essex.

Several members who only took up sport after joining the group are now achieving at elite levels and have the potential to represent Team GB at the London Paralympics in 2012.

Harlow Athletic Club chairman Alex Steel and Harlow Council's Helen Offord were at the heart of the project to include all athletes – able-bodied and disabled in one allcompassing club. "I remember when I took over as chairman I saw a young boy in a wheelchair looking at the athletes on the track. I want everyone to be included. Even the club logo has a disabled athlete on it now," explained Steel.

From wheelchair basketball to boccia, athletics to football and trampolining to judo and swimming, the all-ability athletes can compete in a myriad of sports.

Every Monday at Mark Hall the all-ability section is put through its paces by Harlow Athletic Club coach Bob McKinley.

Councillor Joel Charles, Chairman of Harlow Council's Community & Citizenship Policy Working Group, added: "The Council-backed all ability sports and leisure group clearly makes a huge difference to lives."

"By working together local sports clubs and organisations are providing opportunities for people with disabilities to participate in a range of sport and leisure activities, giving them confidence to play sport and go on to compete at a high level."

● All-ability activities cost £1.50 per session. For more information call Helen Offord on (01279) 446417 or Neil Mann (01279) 772521.

Young athletes making a Mark at plush complex

ALEX Steel, the chairman of Harlow Athletic Club, is determined to attract more young athletes to the Mark Hall hub.

HAC has struggled to recruit huge volumes of young athletes since it was unable to use its old headquarters at Hammarskjold Road for competitive events in 1993.

From that time, the club has found it hard to stem the flow of exciting youngsters who have left for rival athletic clubs including Woodford Green, Chelmsford, Loughton and Herts Phoenix.

Despite the completion of the multi-million pound state-of-the-art track and field complex at Mark Hall a few years ago, HAC has still lost young members, including Harlow-born Sam Watts, who has gone on to represent Great Britain at the World U-20 Championships.

But Steel, above, who was returned as chairman at the club's annual meeting on Saturday, saw more than 20 teenagers return to train at Harlow in the last year and hopes many more will now follow.

"Aidan Lee lives in Harlow but went to Woodford. I want to bring a lot of them back," explained Steel.

"We had a girl living in Eastwick and she could see the Mark Hall track from her bedroom window. She was at Woodford. She wasn't part of Harlow. We asked her why and she said it was because of the past. She came down here and she trains here now."

"Some of these young people are not given the direction and they are lost to the club. The objective is to give them a focus," added Steel.

Unfortunately many of these youngsters are only second-claim members, which means they are likely to compete for neighbouring clubs in high level competition. This is something that simply must change in the future.

To help take Harlow forward the club has linked up with other athletic clubs in Essex, including Chelmsford, Basildon, Havering, Mayesbrook, Southend-on-Sea and Thurrock Harriers.

These clubs are working in partnership as part of a three-year programme to drive up the quality of coaching, improve performance and develop athletics locally within this South Essex region.

"The idea is to get the clubs to work together," said Steel. "We will see what they can do for us and what we can do for them. It stops children in the town travelling miles away [for specialist athletics coaching]. We share coaches."

SUCCESS: Members of the all-ability section that competed in an athletics and boccia competition organised by Harlow Council (s)

Brilliant turn out for contest

TWENTY-nine athletes competed in the all ability athletics and boccia competition at Mark Hall Sportcentre, organised by Harlow Council.

Most of the competitors were from Harlow Council's all ability sports and leisure group which trains at Harlow Athletic Club on Monday evenings. Events included wheelchair racing, javelin, chest push, long jump, vertical jump, speed bounce, relay running and boccia.

A number of local people in training for the London 2012 Paralympics competed in the wheelchair racing.

The senior men's event was won by Luke Lowe, ahead of Dean Lea and Dean Harvey in second and third respectively.

Karen Joy triumphed in the senior women's section. In second was Charmain Thorpe, with Emma Kirby in third.

The junior boys category was won by Connor Ford. Brendon Walker was second. Adam Goldspink-Burgess was in third.

In the junior girls competition, Isobel Stephenson triumphed. Ellie Parish was second, with Sadie Hobbs in third.

Council chairman Sue Livings attended the event and presented trophies to the winners.

Every competitor received a medal and certificate.

The event was organised by Harlow Council's Leisure services team working with volunteers from Harlow Athletic Club.

The competition gave the all-ability athletes good preparation ahead of the Essex Challenge Cup on April 16.

Athletes competing in the cup will get the opportunity to be selected for the Eastern Regional Athletics Championships and could progress to national competitions.

Warren returns in director of football role for HTFC

KEVIN Warren has been appointed director of football at Harlow Town FC. The new role was mooted when he stepped down as first team manager in January.

This will cover a number of areas at adult and junior level.

Warren, right, said: "I will be recruiting players for the first team if they need players for certain positions. I am here to help."

"I can assist the reserves. The aim is to get an U-21 side. We want to get that in place. At the moment the reserves are a bit thrown together every week."

Meanwhile, the club has appointed

Dave Lee as reserve team manager.

Lee coaches Harlow & District League club Parsloe Athletic.

"We will be keeping an eye out for 15 and 16-year-olds released by pro clubs before the end of the season," added Warren.

He also hopes to put together an academy side (U-18 or U-19).

Another aim is to set up coaching sessions for young players between 6 and 15.

"We want to get the football club out into the community. We will provide good coaching. I want to get a youth policy," he said.

Warren feels his batteries are fully recharged after finding management and its workload a tough ask.

Warren said: "I have had a holiday and was getting itchy feet. I want to help the club progress and get promoted."

Hawks co-owner Tom Cunningham said: "He has a good eye for a player and we will be looking to him to get young players in. The role will evolve."

Gap widens despite Leyt exit

HAWKS co-owner Tommy Cunningham felt Harlow Town missed a big opportunity to capitalise on Leyton being expelled from Ryman League division one north.

Harlow were held to a 1-1 draw by struggling 10-man Redbridge at home on Tuesday, effectively chucking two points away (see report on page 86).

It left Harlow in 12th spot six points away from a play-off place (top 5). Had they won they would have moved to 9th.

The League's decision to expel Leyton means all their results are expunged from the records. Harlow had not played the East London club, whereas teams around them will now have points deducted.

Cunningham said: "We have been given a massive boost by Leyton going out, but we have thrown two points away. With no disrespect to Redbridge, it's not as if we were playing Needham Market [leaders] or East Thurrock [second spot]."

"We needed to win that game. Our first-half performance was appalling and we got what we deserved. By the time we play next, other sides will have played and the table will have altered. We are running out of games."

Leyton joined the League in

Osagie gets GB nod for Paris Championships

ATHLETE Andrew Osagie has been named in the Great Britain & Northern Ireland squad for next month's European Athletics Indoor Championships.

It was thought that the 23-year-old 800m runner from Harlow would miss out on a spot in the squad for the Championships in Paris from March 4-6 because GB coach Charles van Commenee was not planing to take athletes who had competed at last year's Commonwealth Games.

However, van Commenee has had a change of heart and named Osagie, from Northbrooks, and Wales' Joe Thomas as his two 800m runners on Tuesday.

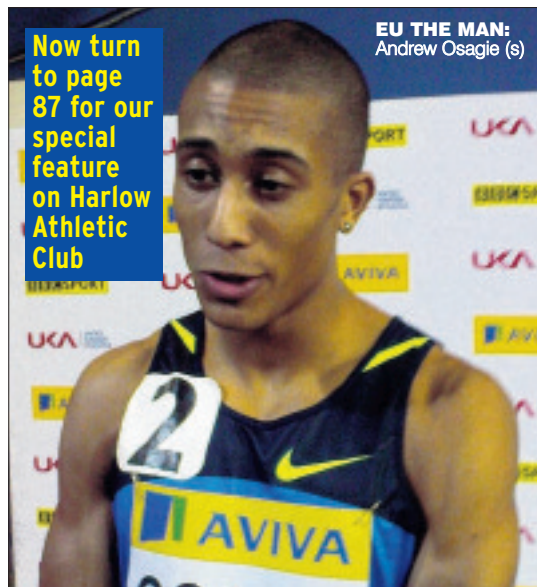

His selection came after an excellent 1,000m race at the Aviva Grand Prix, held at the National Indoor Arena in Birmingham on Saturday.

He finished fourth in a personal best time of 2 mins 18.56 secs.

This took him into third place in the all-time UK top 10 for the event - ahead of the likes of Sebastian Coe and John Mayock.

Osagie couldn't celebrate his birthday with a British record, however, as he was almost a second outside the 2:17.86 mark set by Matthew Yates in 1992.

The race was won by Sudan's Abubaker Kaki in 2:17.75, with Boaz Lalang of Kenya in second (2:17.81). Both runners were at one stage going for a World Record time.

"I just missed out on the British Record which is what I wanted. But I'm pleased with the performance, I ran quite well,"

ANDREW Osagie spoke exclusively to the Star after his race at Birmingham - and admitted he hopes his exploits on the track will help inspire youngsters at his local club. "It's a lot of different running here in front of a capacity crowd to the Harlow track [at Mark Hall], but I really enjoy events like this and I hope I get invited back next time," said

Osagie, from Harlow.

"To all my team-mates at Harlow all I can say is keep up the good work. We're a small club and I'm trying to wear my Harlow vest as much as I can at these events and I hope I can inspire the youngsters."

"The club has done a lot for me and if I can motivate the kids with my performances then that would be great."

said Osagie.

"If I ran an 800m today I would have run a PB, maybe even a complete PB - outdoors and indoors."

"Unfortunately I felt a bit tired. I had a race tactic which was to go with the split times I had set myself, but it was kind of hard to go with the pace. I think I finished strongly which was good."

"It was awesome racing here in Birmingham, I really love it."

In-form Osagie then ran an indoor PB in Stockholm, Sweden on Tuesday evening. He clocked 1:46.59 which is just shy of his outdoor PB of 1:46.41 from last year.

He finished 4th, behind Kenyans Kiplagat, Lalang and Kivuna and was only 0.31 seconds behind the winner. This now ranks him No.1 800m runner in the UK.

He added: "Training has been going really well, I went out to Kenya before Christmas and running at altitude helped me a lot. The best runners in the world are out there and I learnt a lot."

"I've not set any targets for Paris, but as I've always said I don't like losing any race."

Osagie achieved the UKA Paris standard for the 800m with a time of 1:47.96 at the National Indoor Championships in Sheffield the previous week. He claimed a silver medal.

Osagie's mentor Dame Kelly Holmes has high hopes for the talented runner. "It's great to see Andrew establishing himself in the Aviva GB senior team and I look forward to seeing him compete well in Paris," she said.

Late try bid fails as Rams suffer defeat

THERE was a big improvement, but it was not enough for basement side Harlow as they slipped to a narrow defeat at Ipswich.

The Rams were in contention right until the end and picked up a bonus point as they did not lose by more than seven points in Saturday's clash.

Harlow's director of rugby Lee Harron said: "We showed an improvement, but we have to show the same commitment again."

"It is disappointing because we could have come away with a win, but when things go against you, they go against you."

Extremely wet conditions dictated that a large proportion of the game was a close-fought contest.

Rhys Powell had been playing at centre for the Rams, but he was switched to scrum-half and did well before going off with a groin injury on 65 minutes.

Josh Drake came in for his first start in the back row as experienced forward Paul Eynon was ruled out with a groin injury.

Ipswich started well and went ahead through a fifth-minute penalty from John Lasbrey.

Three minutes later, the Suffolk side increased their lead with some good phases of play which led to Frankie Abbott touching down an unconverted try.

Rams fly-half Michael Dobson cut the deficit with a 19th-minute penalty.

Ipswich led 8-3 at the break, but increased their lead on 52 minutes.

A defensive lapse allowed the hosts to come away with possession inside the Harlow 22 and Ryan Potkins ran in an unconverted try.

The visitors fought back and exerted strong pressure before Powell made a short
